LETTUCE from our Readers

ADDRESS ALL LETTERS TO CRACKED LETTUCE, 235 PARK AVENUE SOUTH, N.Y., N.Y. 10003

DEAR CRACKED,

Save Our Billionaires was brilliant and makes a good point. Why should Arabs be earning all the world's money. I want to help change this and urge all of you out there to send me a dollar so that a new American billionaire can be created.

Bob
White Plains, NY

Dear Bob,

We think that's very patriotic, but demand you cut us in for half as a sort of "thank you" for running your letter. After all, we're patriotic (and greedy) too!

DEAR CRACKED,

How The Ads of Tomorrow Will Exploit The Energy Crisis was right on target. Already, companies are doing this, like the farm near me that sells carrots claiming them to be energy efficient because they were created in soil using solar energy! Where will it all end?

Eugene Hooper
Le Mars, Iowa

Dear Eugene,

We don't know and condemn the practice. Only legitimate products, like CRACKED, should be allowed to advertise this way. With us, the more time you spend reading, the less time you'll spend driving around aimlessly wasting gas.

DEAR CRACKED,

Not only did I enjoy If Schools Patterned Themselves After TV, but I think the system should be instituted at once. One question though. If not enough people turned up at lunch when Spam Foo Young was served, does that mean it would get a low rating and then be cancelled?

Glen Poutinen
Teme, Ariz.

Dear Glen,

You should be so lucky!

DEAR CRACKED,

I'm doing a report on American corporations and would like to know how BIG CRACKED is.

Rosalinda Hal
Austin, Texas

Dear Rosalinda,

About 8½" x 11".

DEAR CRACKED,

Why don't you ever run any articles on Kenny Rodgers?

Ron Jensen,
Houston, Texas

Dear Ron,

Why doesn't Kenny Rodgers ever sing songs about CRACKED?

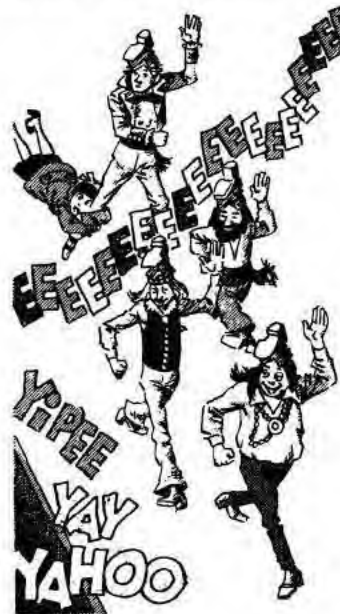

DEAR CRACKED,

To put it in the words of my Tennessean ancestors, Movie Posters We'll Soon Be Seeing was funnier than a hog rolling round the mud in a rain slicker.

Lucas Pram
Little Hawk, Tenn.

Dear Lucas,

Well, thank ya Cousin Lucas. You all's as kind as a hound dog havin a picnic on a horsefly's back — or some kind of southern compliment like that.

DEAR CRACKED,

If I sent you a sample of my homemade grape jam and you liked it, would you put in a plug for it?

Don Danner
Poughkeepsie, NY

Dear Don,

No, but if you sent us your TV, we'd be happy to put in the plug for that!

CRACKED is trying to put confetti back together again!

I hung up that Teacher's Strike poster in my homeroom, and everyone laughed and laughed — especially when the teacher gave me 10 minutes detention for doing it. Thanks a lot!

Dear T.

Don't mention it. We enjoy helping students use their after school hours in a constructive way.

DEAR CRACKED,

Can you please stop running articles with lengthy titles like How Madison Avenue Can Turn Anything Into A Great Selling Holiday Gift. After reading the title, my eyes are too tucked out to read any more.

Reza Acree
San Francisco

Dear Reza,

If that's true, then take this word of advice from us — don't start War and Peace. The title's short, but the first chapter — whooh!

DEAR CRACKED,

I loved Star Trek The Movie and wish you would do something on it real quick.

Steve Morgan
Taos, N. Mexico

Dear Steve,

Then turn the page! (Is that quick enough for you?)

DEAR CRACKED,

Who's idea was it to have a whole CRACKED Lens centering around monsters?

Clyde Gentry
Cincinnati, Ohio

Dear Clyde,

Some 2-headed, 16' woman's who walked into our office requesting it.

DEAR CRACKED,

As the co-owner of a local figure salon, I can confirm that your CRACKED Look At A Health Spa was accurate. I've seen everyone of those individuals depicted in your funny centerspread.

Carol Dorning
Urbana, Ill.

Dear Carol,

Even the little guy with the staple through his belly?

DEAR CRACKED,

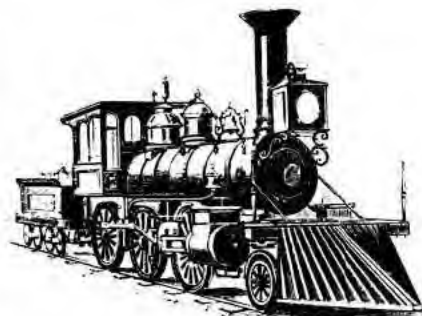

Can you PRINT my letter?

Harvey Cuming
Aberdon, MD

Dear Harvey,

We could, but it would be a whole lot easier if you'd allow us to TYPE it instead.

Nanu. Nanu. Today is my great day here on Vulcano.

Yes, Spook, you have been with us for 10 years
now, studying and praying for supreme logic.

And?

THE BRUCE
JENNER
GOLD MEDAL
FOR LOGIC

And, I'm afraid we can't award you this medal.

But why? You said my logic
was coming along fine.

Yes, until you made one tiny error in judgment.

And, what was that?

You agreed to be in this movie.

Capt. Quirk! It's you.

Yes, Scutti and it's Admiral now. The United Federation of Plants has given me permission to command the Enterprising again. There's a huge force heading towards earth.

A force?

Yes, Scutti. It's my contention that it got loose from an old Star Wars movie.

Well, in that case, I'll be a-taking you out to the ship at once. They've been redoing her, laddie.

My! She's beautiful.
Truly a model ship.

So, you can see
the wires too, sir?

Zulu! Mr. Chicklet! Uhuh!

Admiral Quirk!?! What are you doing here?

Same as all you other has-beens. Trying to revitalize my career.

But sir, we have a commander already — Mr. Deckedout.

Well, like 2 Anacins rushing through the bloodstream towards a headache, I'm relieving him.

Oh, are you now.

Admiral, this ship's been totally redesigned, and I now know her better than anyone.

Piffle. After 78 episodes on T.V.,
I remember something. See. I just got a weather readout
from this computer.

Oh yeah! What you just did was play 2 games of Space Invaders.
That's the computer over there.

Mr. Chicklet, please get me a pen, stamp and envelope.

What for sir?

I want to address
the crew.

Men, women and assorted creatures, there is a force heading towards earth, and our mission is to destroy it — the force, that is. Not the earth.

Admiral, a transmission's being beamed on the screen behind you from a space station monitoring the cloud.

My family and I assure you that this is the best margarine you'll ever taste. Promise!!

Oops. Wrong transmission.

Look!! The station is being zapped. What could that strange cloud possibly be?

Perhaps it's the radiation re-mains of the 1979 3 Mile Island accident.

Well, we're all set to go.

Excuse me sir, but there's someone waiting to be beamed up.

I know, and I've been pushing the beamer, but nothing's happening.

Allow me, sir. This is the beamer.

That!?! Then what did I just do?

You activated the automatic flush in the john.

Boned!!

I told them that I don't make house calls anymore, but no, they beamed me up here anyway.

Welcome aboard.

This ship's all different.

Don't worry. You'll get the hang of it in no time. I did. Sick bay is right through that door.

Thanks.

Ahhh! You idiot! This is the laundry chute!!

Capt., I am Hialeah, your new second officer.

I knew those close cropped haircuts were in for women, but yours is ridiculous.

Aren't you going to welcome me aboard?

What is this? The Love Boat? Just step on in.

Scutti, let's move it out. Bring this baby up to warp one.

But sir...

Commander Deckedout, we're in a hurry.

What's going on? Everything's a blur.

Perhaps the CRACKED printing press is acting up again.

He's been riding with the parking brake on.

You saved the ship, Captain. I'd like to thank you, in my own way, of course.

You mean with some more of your stilted dialog and wooden acting.

This is even worse than riding in a '74 Vega. What's wrong?

It's what I've been trying to tell the admiral.

Oh.

I am not wooden.

Oh no. Then why's that bird trying to peck at your leg?

TAKKA-TAKKA-TAK!

Commander, there's something approaching us out there.

It must be the deli sandwiches I sent out for.

No, sir, it's... my gosh! It's Mr. Spook, and he's hitchhiking.

Am I glad to see you. Oh, Spook! Spook!

Please sir. You'll bend my ears.

I can see you're just as warm as ever.

Yes, sir. 98.6.

Commander, the cloud force is ahead. Shall we send out messages of friendship?

GOOD THINKING!

MASTERFUL DECISION!

HOW SWEET!

GOOD SHOW, SIR!

Yes, Zulu. Oh, and while you're at it, throw in a box of candy too.

They're not responding, sir.

What kind of being would spurn friendship and not listen to reason?

It must be a descendant of the Ayatollah Khomeini.

Sir, we're being swallowed into the very bowels of this alien vehicle.

The analogy is correct. What should we do?

We're in its stomach?

Well, we've got to try and dissolve our way out. Quick! Release a giant Rolaid.

PINOCCHIO!

Intruder alert! Intruder alert!

Commander, the vehicle has unleashed something on us.

You know what I think it is.

A probe looking us over?

No, the Ajax White Tornado.

It's going after Hialeah.

Our first clue. The being has a thing for bald-headed women.

Excuse me for being unlady-like sir, but ... Ahhhhhhh!

She's disappeared.
What'll we do now?

We could divide her salary up 20 ways and just press on.

No good. We've been seized by a tractor beam. We can't move.

LIKE NOW!

Quirk! Hialeah's returned only now with some kind of red thing implanted in her neck.

Could be a piece of alien jewelry.

DINNA FORGET THE
PRICE OF GOLD THESE DAYS, SIR!

I've been sent in the form of Hialeah by our commander Voyga to probe your ship.

She's been turned into a video tape unit.

No kidding. You think she's got
The Black Hole stored inside her? I missed it when it was in the movies 300 years ago.

Sir, it's not that kind of unit.
I'll explain later. For now, let's get her to sick bay. Perhaps her make-up will tell us something.

Get out of here
spook. Eyeshadow
can't talk.

SICK BAY

AVENUE,
PLEASE!

I will now start my examination, but I warn you admiral, if some strange creature pops up out of her chest and bloodies my uniform, I'm sending you the cleaning bill.

Uhula,
where's
Spook?

He wanted to investigate the outer regions of this alien vehicle first hand, so he borrowed your thruster suit.

Darn that Spook. I told him he could borrow
my ties, my shoes,
even my huggy bear
pajamas, but not my thruster suit!

STAMP!
STAMP!

I'd say it were spooky out here, but I'm not capable of emotion. Too bad, though, because this place gives me the creeps. I feel as if I'm in a living machine — sort of like spending the weekend trapped inside a Mr. Coffee.

Ahhhh! The being is mistaking me for a giant credit card and charging me with 6 million volts of electricity.

Spook, are you all right?

There's 6 million volts of power surging through me and you wanna know if I'm all right... Ooh!!

What's wrong?

I feel a pain on my side. Like something is being stuck into me.

Relax.

It's only Boned running his hot comb off your leg.

Voyge sends a question to you carbon units.

Carbon units? What does he think we are — duracell batteries?

Commander, Voyge is a machine. He's barren, and I believe he wants to know who his creator is.

Well tell him Gene Roddenberry. See, it's right here in the credits.

No good.

Sir, he's got 3 powerful weapons surrounding the earth now.

I've got an idea. Voyge is like a child. Treat him as such and maybe this probe will take you to meet him in person.

I'll try.

Voyge, want some candy? Or how about a Star Trek model that retails for $19.95? They're both yours if you just take me to yourself.

All right. Follow me.

OH, BROTHER!

It worked. Hey, to really win him over, think I should wear a Santa Claus suit as we approach?

I don't think that's necessary, sir.

Look at that. It's sort of like some strange land I've seen before.

Try Oz.

All we have to do is go inside and we'll find out who Voyge is.

My gosh! It's a lost voyager 6 from the NASA program of nearly 300 years ago. It's evolved to a higher plane because of all the knowledge its gathered. Do you know what this means?

Yeah. It means we're really pushing it asking our audience to believe something this ridiculous.

If you think that's asking a lot, wait'll you get a load of this. I shall now connect myself to the machine and become one with it.

Look! He's dissolving.

Yeah, sort of like a cosmic Alka Seltzer.

Well, Commander Quirk, Decked-out is gone and the Enterprising is once again all yours to command. Where to now, Sir?

Well, after studying their reaction to all that's happened during these last 2 hours, I'm afraid there's only one safe place left for us to head...

ZZ

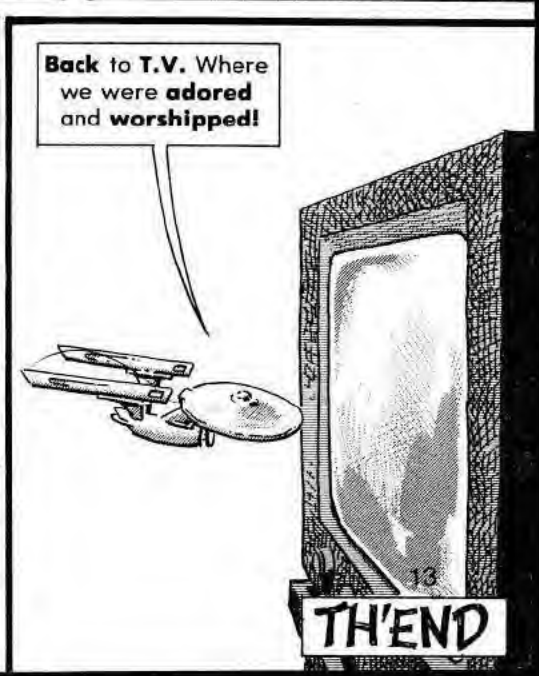

That's it? How dumb.

Man, I want my 4 bucks back.

That was just like "The Companion" episode done 12 years ago.

I'm totally lost. What happened?

Z

Back to T.V. Where we were adored and worshipped!

Most people (with the possible exception of Woody Allen) eat every day. It's a primitive habit which started with the Neanderthal Man, and continues even to this day. And, although eating usually makes most people fat and poor, it can make you, the CRACKED Reader... fat and rich! That is, you can reap financial rewards from eating, if you exploit people's appetites by opening up a restaurant of your own. So read on, and you will find out how you can do this in the following...

CRACKED HANDBOOK FOR RESTAURANT OWNERS

1. Choosing A Location: To attract steady customers, you must locate your restaurant in a good area.

Choose a location which is close to the homes of many people. You can't expect many customers if your restaurant is located...

Find a safe neighborhood in which to open your eatery. Don't choose a location where the people outside the restaurant are likely to have the same objects in their hands as the people eating inside the restaurant.

Locate in an area populated by people who have a lot of money to spend. You have chosen the wrong neighborhood if your restaurant is right next door to...

2. Types of Restaurants: In today's offbeat world, hungry people often flock to unusual restaurants.

Drive-Ins: If you open up one of these restaurants where people can eat in their cars, make sure that your customers know where they are supposed to drive in!

Diet Restaurant: You may decide to open up a special restaurant for people who want to lose weight. But this has one drawback, this type of eatery will force you to spend more money on...

Outdoor Restaurants: If you open up an outdoor eatery where people can dine and enjoy sunshine at the same time, make sure you locate in the right climate.

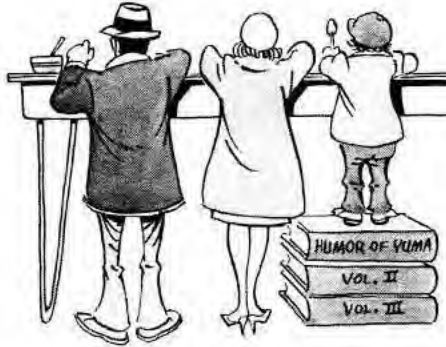

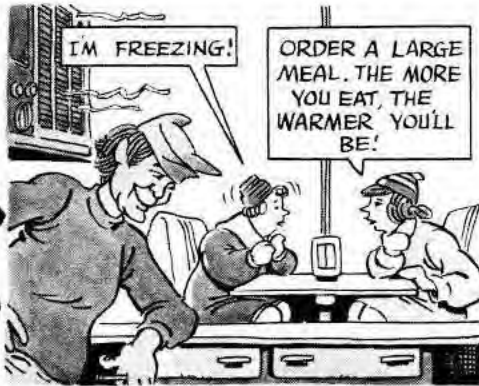

3. Setting Up: How you furnish your restaurant can make the difference between financial success or failure.

You're sure to sell more food if you buy an air conditioner and keep it running all year round, even during the coldest winter days because . . .

You can save money on chairs and increase your seating capacity if you furnish your restaurant with high tables which force your customers to stand up while they . . .

. . . and, if you have these high tables electrically wired so that they recede into the floor at the push of a button, every night after your customers have finished eating their dinner, you can convert your restaurant into a . . .

4. Special Customer Services: If you offer your customers "little extras", you can be certain that your restaurant will be the "Talk of the town".

For the customer who must eat and leave quickly to catch a movie, you can provide an Express Waiter Service — a waiter who serves meals with lightning speed because he is wearing . . .

However, there is one disadvantage to this method, the floor must always be kept spotlessly clean, or else the roller skating waiter might . . .

You can please customers if you set up a game room in the back of your restaurant, a place where after eating a delicious meal, the satisfied diner can spend a few hours, and possibly a few thousand . . .

5. Food: Your restaurant's reputation will depend upon the quality of the food you serve.

The food you serve should be as fresh as possible, but don't overdo it.

All steaks and chops should be cooked until tender.

Serve large portions of meat and vegetables. People will not return to eat in your restaurant if the amount of food you serve them is too . . .

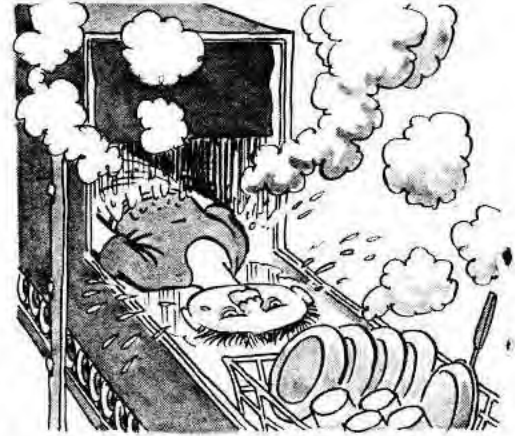

6. Personnel: Hiring good workers will help you to run your restaurant more efficiently.

Proper Attire: Often, customers won't complain about bad food and service as long as the waitresses are attractively dressed.

Hire waiters who are fast on their feet, just in case some dishonest customers try and beat the . . .

Hire dishwashers who have good balance, or else they may wind up . . .

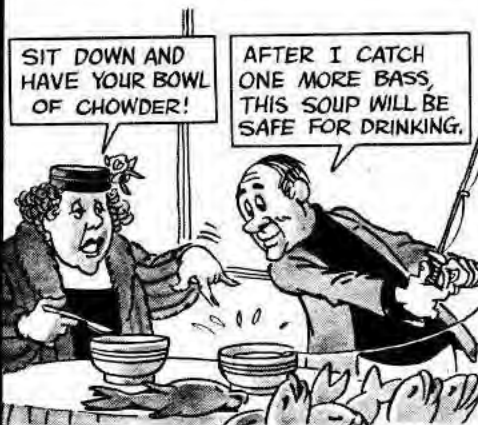

7. Firing Personnel: If your restaurant workers are not doing their job well, give them their "Walking Papers".

It's time to fire your chef, if most of your customers are standing over their fish chowder with a . . .

It's time to hire a new cashier, if the size of his pockets are much larger than the rest of his pants.

It's time to fire your waitress, if instead of receiving coins as tips, you notice that she usually gets her tips in the form of written notes.

8. Tricks of the Trade: There are several techniques which a restaurant owner can use to turn a "slow" week into a highly profitable one.

All future restaurant owners should know that you can cut your cleaning bills in half by turning over the . . .

If you put large amounts of salt in the food you serve, your customers thirst will increase, and so will your profits because they will order more . . .

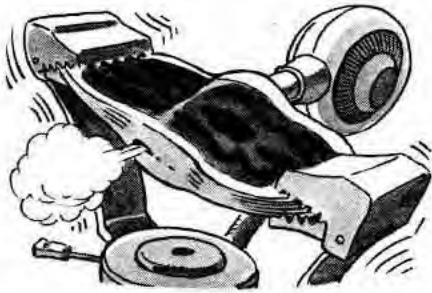

Now that your heavily salted food is helping you to sell more drinks, you can still further increase your profits by giving your customers less beverage for their money, simply by overfilling their glasses with . . .

9. Products: There are many products sold on the market which will help the restaurant owner reap greater financial rewards from his food selling business.

- 2) A Bar of Soap — for the day the Health Inspector comes.
- 3) Super Strength Strawberry Air Freshener — the over-powering smell of this air freshener nearly guarantees that no one will dare enter and dirty your restroom.

RESTAURANT TELEPHONES

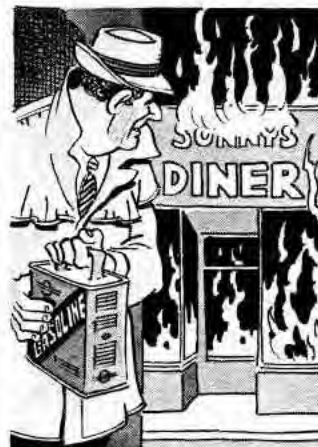

The Restaurant Telephones sold by our company will boost the profits of your eating establishment, because while a customer is talking on the phone, every 60 seconds he will be interrupted by a voice YOUR VOICE asking him to "Please deposit 60¢ for the next 60 seconds." And it is YOU, not the local phone company which benefits from this outrageous phone call rate because the phone's coin box is connected directly to your cash register!!

DUMMY DINERS

By seating our Dummies of famous people at your empty tables, you can make people passing by on the street think that your restaurant is popular and crowded. Our new line of Dummy Diners includes: Robin, Anson & Paul Williams, Simple & Paul Simon, Kit & Johnny Carson, Olivia Newton-John & John Travolta, etc.

if you've enjoyed the articles in CRACKED so far, you're lucky! Mainly because it's downhill from now on! Where else is there to go when you indulge in America's number one sport? So come along with us as...

CRACKED

GOES TO A SKI MOUNTAIN

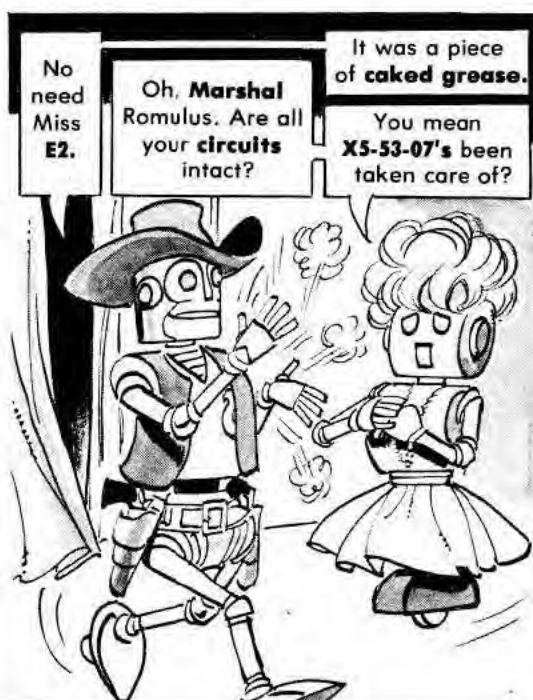

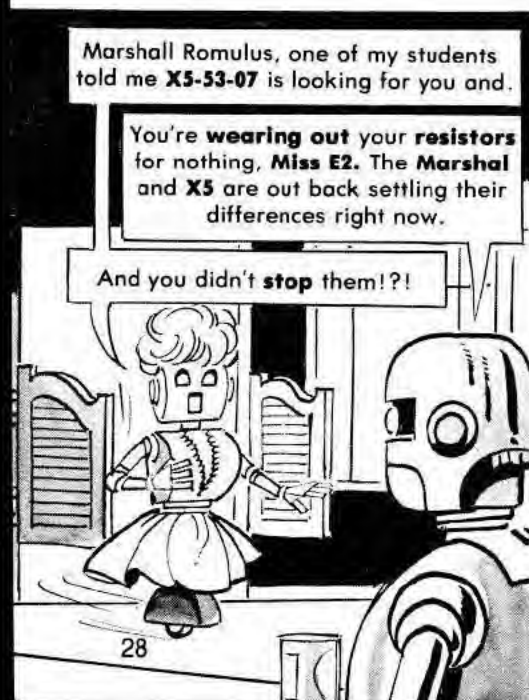

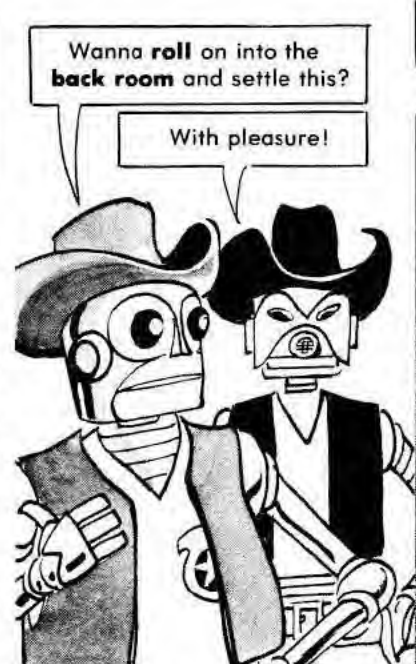

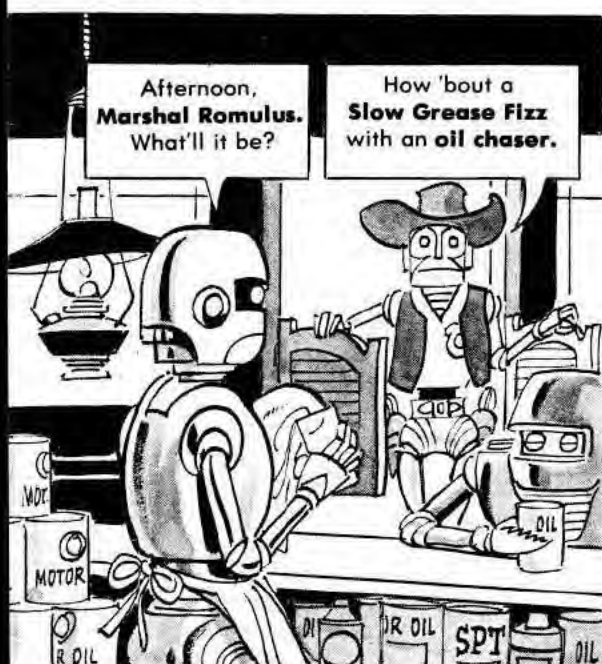

At the stroke of midnight on December 31, 1979, the world lost something it will never have again — the 1970's. And with the dawning of a new decade, what does man have to look forward to? Well, the editors here, along with the writers and artists, all sat down one afternoon, put their minds together (no nasty comments please), looked at what the 70's had or could have given us, and then used it all as a sort of spring-board for coming up with these

CRACKED PREDICTIONS FOR THE 1980'S

T.V.

By 1985, CRACKED believes Mork and Mindy, Happy Days, Three's Company, etc. will all be relegated to the world of reruns. Comedy will be on the wane, unfortunately. The big rage will once again be westerns — only with a twist as illustrated here in a scene from what could be 1985's top hit, "The Adventures of Marshal Romulus"

CRACKED is the banana with a split personality!

MEDICINE

Today, heart transplants are commonplace as are new kidneys and gall bladders. And, after analyzing the medical field thoroughly, CRACKED predicts that by 1987, the human body will become sort of like the cars of today — capable of having every individual part totally replaced.

HOUSING

As for housing, CRACKED predicts that the "natural" look will spread. At the moment, architects are using lots of wood for walls, ceilings and floors, as well as plants to accent the whole decor. Well, we believe the next decade will continue to bring the outdoor environment indoors.

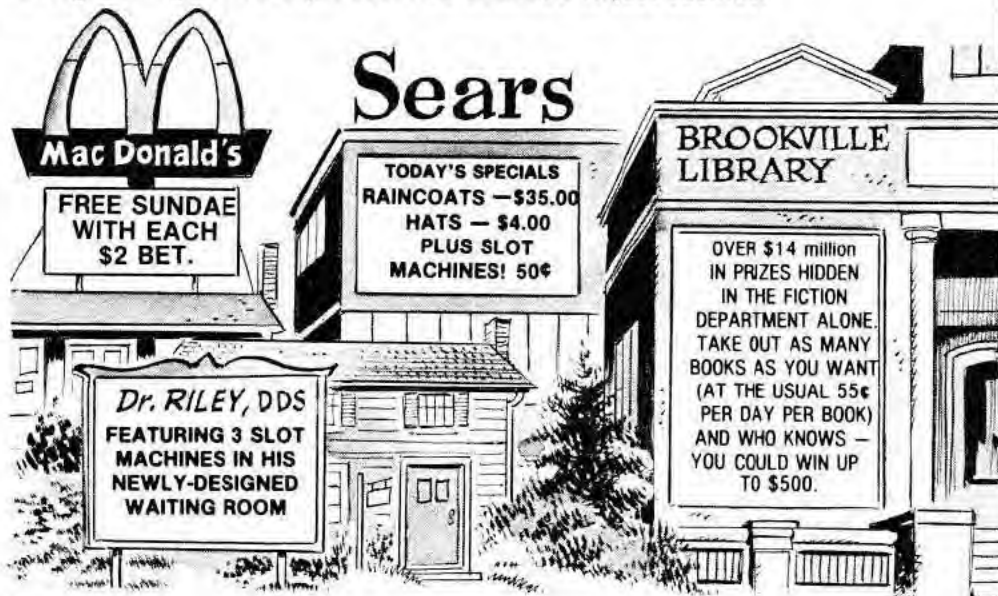

ECONOMY

CRACKED believes incomes will continue to soar, but unfortunately so will inflation, leading to much higher prices by 1989.

GAMBLING

With New Jersey revenues soaring, we predict other areas will see the potential, so that by the mid-1980's, nearly every state in the union will have gambling. However, it won't be confined to just casinos.

HOME ENTERTAINMENT

Today, we are on the brink of a multi-video revolution, and CRACKED sees the 1980's as the blossoming of this era. Currently, there are video tape recorders and video discs (records that play pictures). But there will be much more including T.V.'s with Dolby stereo sound

But as home entertainment thrives, the 80's will see several adverse effects.

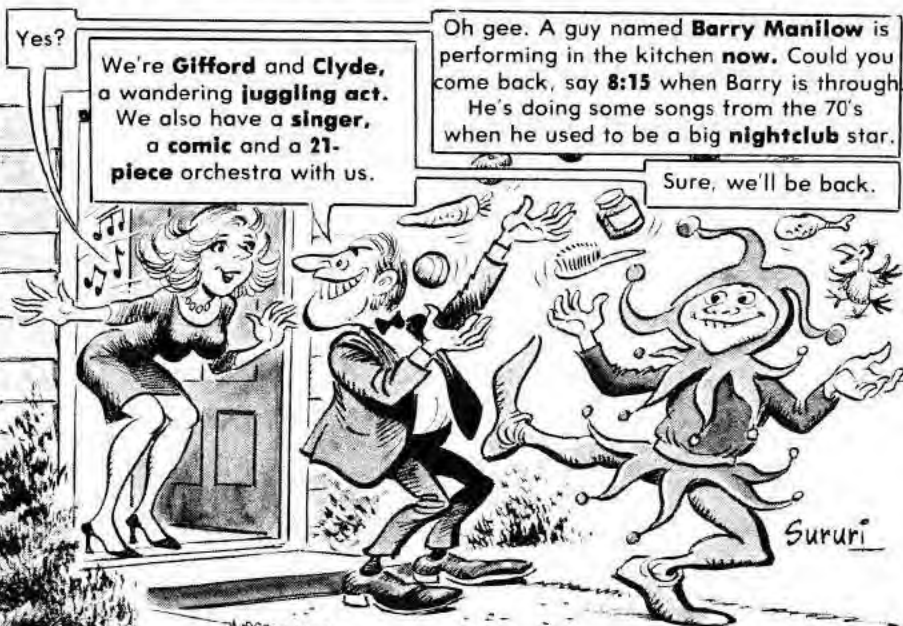

Tele-Trans Communicators

Plug-in video units that beam current and past issues of magazines and newspapers.

And with movies, theaters and night clubs shuttered, CRACKED predicts one other boom — the revival of the wandering minstrel or, in this case, the traveling showman.

OIL

In this area, the CRACKED crystal ball sees oil as still skyrocketing to about $95 a barrel by 1983, causing people throughout the country to replace furnaces and electric ovens with wood-burning stoves.

How futuristic! Mom's cooking on a wood-burning stove. Did you ever see such a thing, Grandpa?

Nope. Not since I was 11.

However, as this spreads, wood scavengers will be rampant.

Someone stole my redwood deck in the middle of the night, along with my garage door.

And real tree forests will become highly-guarded commodities.

What you've been walking through is a plastic tree forest. But in a moment, we'll be taking you into a 1/2 acre compound of the real thing.

NIGHTSPOTS

Before, we talked about the closing of movies and nightclubs. Well, we're not reneging on this prediction; however, we do see a different type of night spot opening. People will still have an urge to get out, only in the 80's, it'll be a totally different type of place (offering thrills not gotten anywhere else) known as anti-gravitational clubs.

POLITICS

The 80's will bring new issues, new challenges and new problems. But in politics, it'll still be the same old thing.

You ask me if I support multi-level space housing, and I say this to that, that although there are some beneficial aspects to it, there are problems too. And, I agree with both sides and will take a firm stand in the middle of this issue. Any other questions?

FASHION

CRACKED believes hemlines will rise, then fall and that jeans will remain the everyday staple. However, we predict a new parts fashion fad sweeping the country briefly in 1982 — Balloonies.

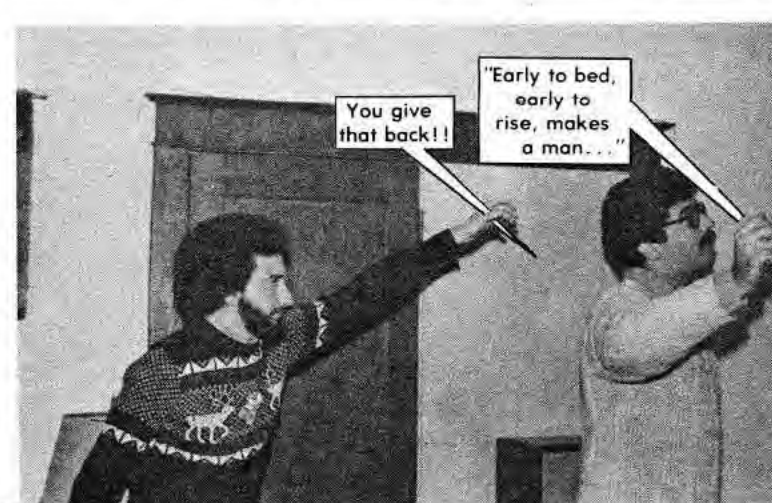

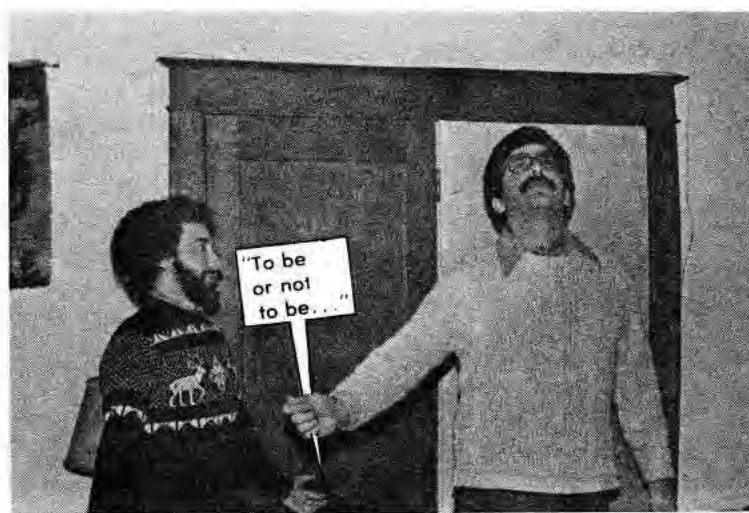

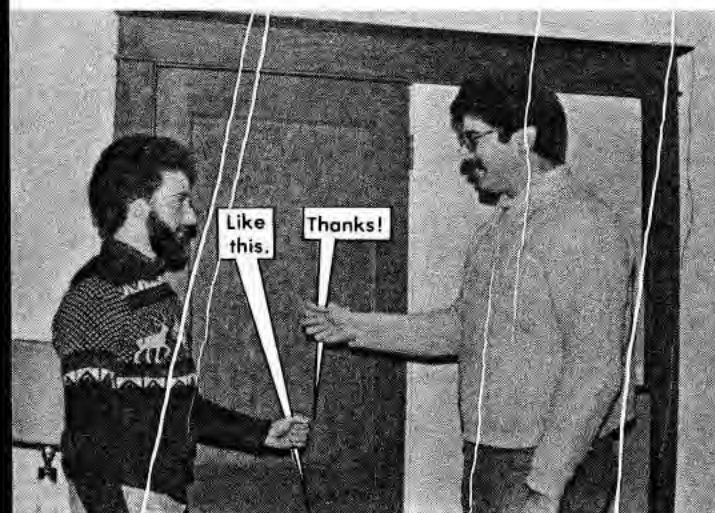

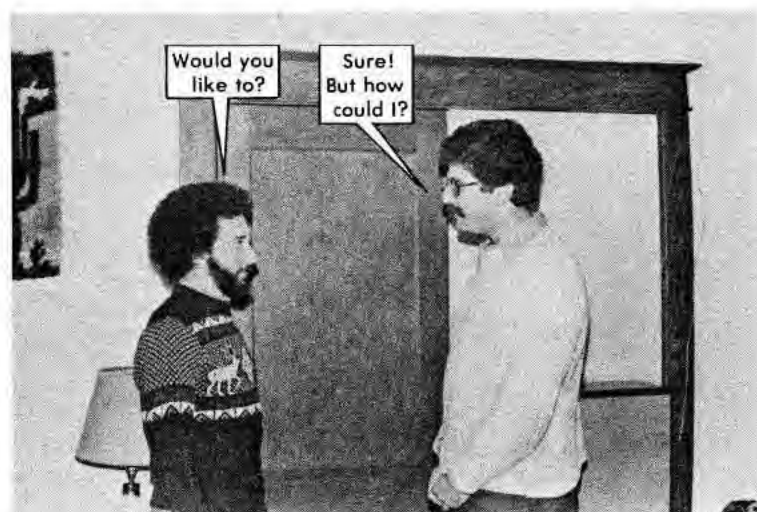

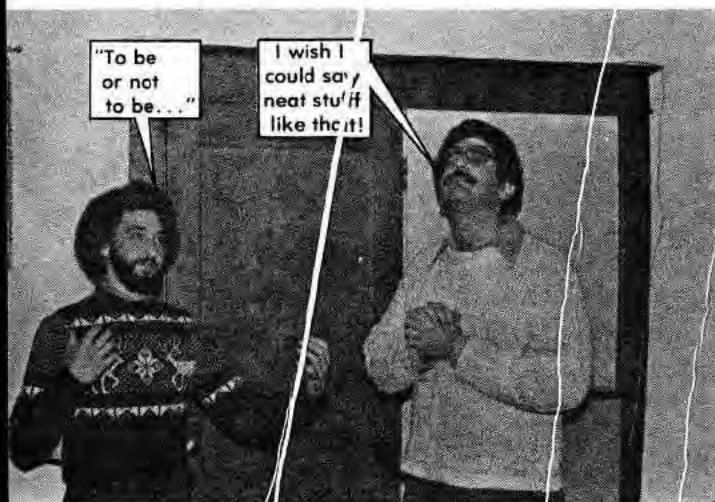

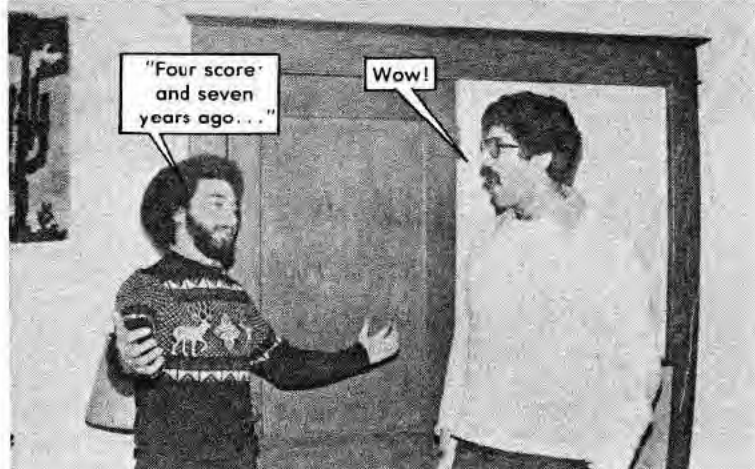

MAGAZINES

Whether it be 1975, 1985 or 1995, CRACKED predicts that there'll be only one place to turn to for a good laugh.

FAMOUS ANIMAL CELEBRITIES

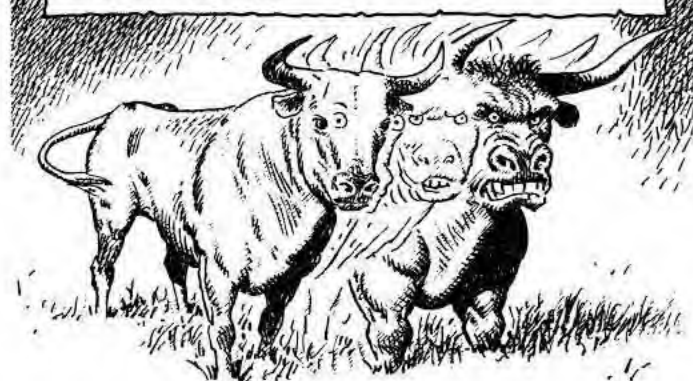

Rabbit Redford

One of the bigger stars in the world today, Rabbit has thrilled audiences in over 25 full-length features including Watership Down, From Hare to Eternity and Bunny and Clyde.

Bull Bixby

Mexican at birth, Bull migrated to this country and tried to make it in local throwing contests. However, this career was interrupted when he was spotted by a T.V. director and cast as "The Incredible Hulk". Bull is now also the spokesman for Toro lawn mowers.

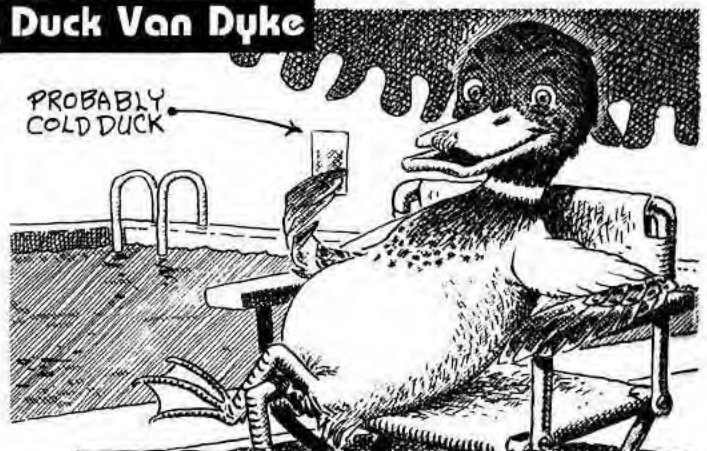

Mike Walrus

Incisive. Probing. Down-right nosey! Those are just some of the adjectives people use to describe this top-flight news animal who really knows how to sink his teeth into a story. In the candid photo below, Mike is seen grilling a man suspected of theft.

Duck Van Dyke

PROBABLY COLD DUCK

Although Mr. Van Dyke has made but one film (What's Up Duck?), he was billed as its star, and we might add, deservedly so. His next project? He, and three other mallards are filming "Life is Just a Box of Quackers".

Nireves

Bird Reynolds

What can you say about an animal who, at the age of 2, winged his way to fame playing the male lead in The Good-bye Gull. From there, he went on to become the cover bird for all of the Hart's Mountain Parakeet Products. But, perhaps his biggest triumph in his still young career is the leading role in the new flick "Robin and His Merry Wrens".

Cluck Gable

Cluck is a classic animal actor. A legend. When he started out, his first screen test really laid an egg, but did he chicken out? No! Instead of staying cooped-up in his home, he went out, fought and ended up making such classic motion pictures as The Henchurian Candidate, All the President's Hens and The Eggsorcist.

Duck Severinon

It's rare to have one famous animal from a coop, but two! Duck is the brother of film star Duck Van Dyke (see other page); however, it's trumpets instead of celluloid for this brother. Even though he is a great musician, it's his wild outfits that get the attention. Audiences never know what color feathers Duck will be sporting next.

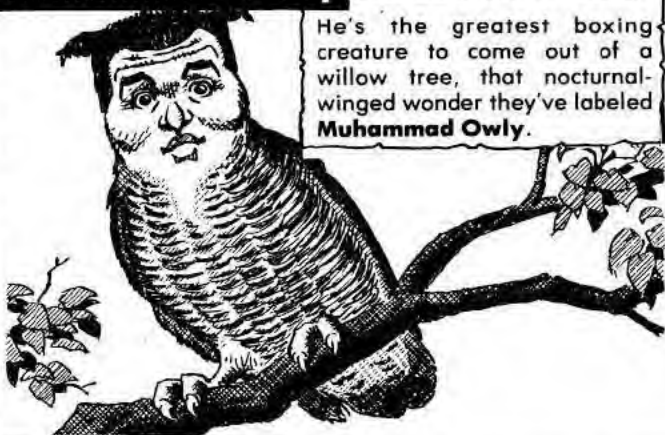

Barbara Streis-ant

"Becoming a top female insect has been no picnic" Ms. Streis-ant once told a reporter. You find that once you've made it, there's always some up-and-comer trying to exterminate you from the top. But, Barbara needn't worry. Her sister Ant Bancroft has been on top for years.

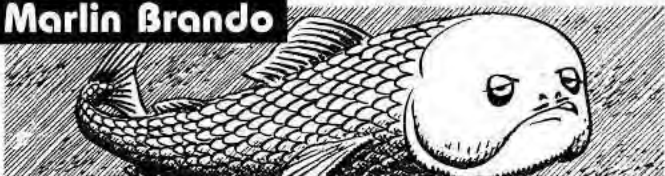

Muhammad Owly

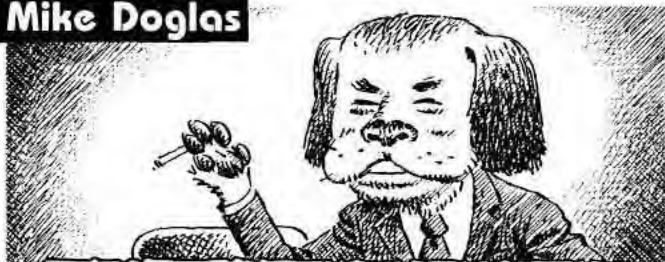

He's the greatest boxing creature to come out of a willow tree, that nocturnal-winged wonder they've labeled Muhammad Owly.

Marlin Brando

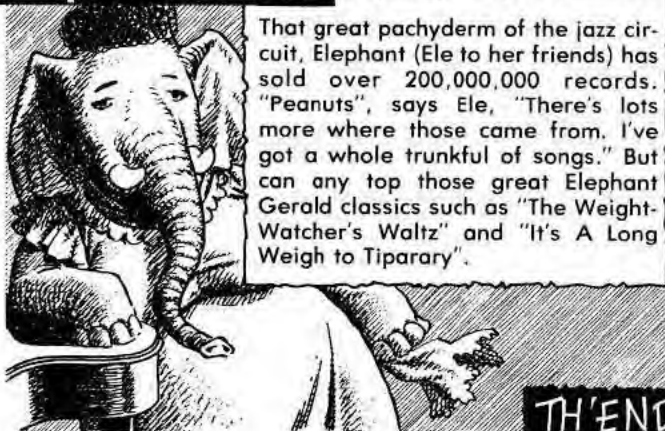

Few famous stars have emerged from the sea. In fact, only two come to mind immediately — Flipper Wilson and Marlin Brando. Marlin's stardom hatched into full bloom after making a cameo appearance as the main course in Guess Who's Coming For Dinner. Then, there was no stopping him as he went on to do a commercial for Shake and Bake for Fish. Critics applauded how evenly the coating stuck to him. But, his greatest triumph is yet to come when he plays a next-door neighbor to Bruce in "The Godfather".

Mike Doglas

Mr. Doglas has been hosting a syndicated bark show for over 12 years. And, how does he get all those great guests, "I just hound them until they agree to come on". And, it's worked. This year alone, he's featured such greats as Lassie, Rin Tin Tin, Benji and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Elephant Gerald

That great pachyderm of the jazz circuit, Elephant (Ele to her friends) has sold over 200,000,000 records. "Peanuts", says Ele, "There's lots more where those came from. I've got a whole trunkful of songs." But can any top those great Elephant Gerald classics such as "The Weight-Watcher's Waltz" and "It's A Long Weigh to Tiparary".

GENERAL INFORMATION: WHAT PANHANDLER COLLEGE WILL DO FOR YOU

I. FLEXIBLE THINKING:

Your 4 years at Panhandler College will teach you how to overcome difficult problems by applying creative solutions.

You'll learn how to start your own low overhead business with just a rag and a bucket of water.

You'll learn how rainy weather can become a valuable part of your personal hygiene program.

You'll learn how to apply panhandling principles to other professions.

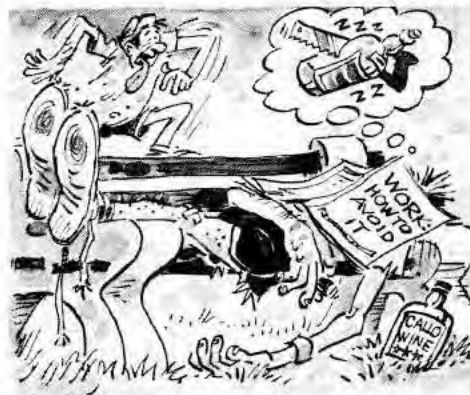

II. CAMPUS FACILITIES:

After a hard day of classes, Panhandler College offers the student many places to relax.

Our school has a jogging track, with bench hurdles placed throughout the length of the running area. By jumping over these obstacles, students will develop strong legs.

... and if the student becomes tired while jogging, these bench hurdles provide him with a comfortable place to ...

Jogging works up a great appetite, which you can satisfy at our buffet style cafeteria.

III. OUR CAMPUS DISCO:

No records are played, instead the Disc Jockey himself performs all of the music live, by honking car horns and smashing car windshields.

To the sound of this "Smashing & Beeping", the Panhandler College students have invented their own dance which they call "Bobbing and Weaving Through Traffic Jams".

After a night at the Disco, your lungs will be filled with fresh air as a result of sleeping in our dormitories, which are located on the ...

Or, if you prefer, at the end of the day, you can relax under the shade of a palm tree.

IV. ACADEMIC STUDIES:

The following courses are being offered this year.

Fundamentals of Math

A course designed to teach the student how to add, subtract, multiply, divide, and what else is new?

The entire semester will be spent trying to solve the following 3 part math problem:

Part 1: If John has 46 dimes in his left pocket, and 37 quarters in his right pocket, and he's carrying 2 pints of cheap whiskey in a brown paper bag — when he passes out, will he fall to his left side or to his right side?

Part 2: When John panhandles, he earns $1.55 per hour. At this rate, how many more hours can John "Work the streets" before his pants will fall down?

Part 3: Use your answers from parts one and two to figure out how many more hours John can panhandle before he will be . . .

Hygiene & Grooming

This course will teach the student how to keep himself clean & presentable. Students will be taught how to wash their clothes in the restrooms of bus depots, how to dental floss their teeth with their fingernails, and how to get free haircuts at the airport by placing your scalp underneath . . .

Bad Habits: Choosing the right ones for you.

Because people offer more "Spare change" to panhandlers who look "Down & Out", we are offering this course which will teach the student how to cultivate that "Down & Out" appearance. Students will be taught how to choose cigarette butts with the lowest nicotine, how to select alcoholic beverages which the liver can tolerate for extended periods of time, and how to suppress the urge to . . .

Securing Food, Clothing and Shelter:

A course designed to teach the student how to secure the basic securities of life.

Food: Students will be taught how to remove all food scraps from a sanitation truck in 10 seconds or less, and they will be given a list of 200 places where they can get free . . .

Clothing: Students will be taught which Salvation Army locations offer the most fashionable suits, and students will be shown how to make a raincoat from a box of . . .

Shelter: Students will be shown how to sleep in a doorway, so they won't be disturbed in the morning by the sound of decent people going to . . .

V. SHOPPING:

The many stores on campus will surely satisfy all of your consumer needs.

Anti-Vitamin Pills

Fact: The older you look, the more they give!! So, make yourself look older today by taking Anti-Vitamin Pills. This product will age you by destroying every vitamin in your body. Before you know it, you'll have wrinkles (from loss of Vitamin E), shakes (from loss of Vitamin D), and little dark spots all over your body (from loss of B vitamins). Every Anti-Vitamin Pill ages you one year, so after you have taken 30 pills... Presto... you're an old man. And, remember the older you look, the more they give!!

Extra-Strength Aspirin

Because it is well heated, and it offers plenty of room to stretch out, most panhandlers prefer to sleep in New York City subway trains. However, besides not being able to answer the phone, subway sleeping has one more disadvantage... you always wake up with a throbbing headache. But now, if you take just one Extra-Strength Aspirin before retiring, you can sleep on the noisy subway and still wake up feeling refreshed, without the slightest trace of a head throb. Pick up a bottle today!

Available At Campus Drug Store

If you're planning a long cross-country trip, then our Train Goggles are a must. At speeds of 90 miles per hour or more, flying dust and objects can ruin your eyesight, especially since you'll be riding on top of the train. So be smart, and buy a pair today!!

And as a parting note, I just wanna thank you all for the gifts — the set of Firestone radials — the weekend in Harrisberg — the Italian designer lobster cage — and above all, for honoring me on this, Billy Pluckett Day.

Honoring me! Who would have thought such a thing possible 40 years ago. Certainly not me — I wasn't even born then. But, how did it begin anyway? Oh yeah, I remember. CRACKED decided they wanted to do a satire on one of those dumb sports movies, so Joe Catalano came up with my life, John Severin drew up my story. We'll call the whole thing

The Billy Pluckett Story

Yeah, it's all coming back to me now. I was born in Philadelphia to a poor pair of pickled peppers. ...ah, parents. From the age of 6, I had loved football.

That whole first year, I had the ball, Dad taught me everything he knew about Football.

Merry Christmas, Bill.
This is for you.

Wow! It's a...

Football! All we could afford was the pigskin.

But we promise — come next December and we'll have enough saved to get you some air.

Now you putt the ball like this.

"Unfortunately, it wasn't very much!"

As I grew up, I began playing with the people on my block, and everyone agreed I was the best one there.

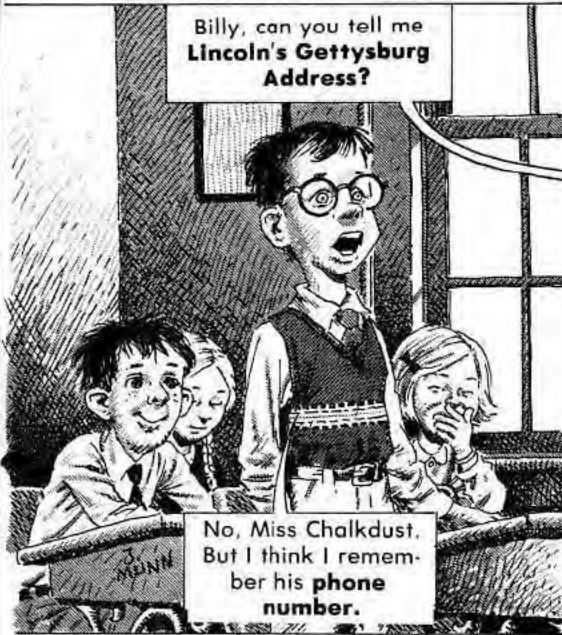

In school, I was an average student doing my best to be like the other kids.

I was fair in history.

Billy, can you tell me Lincoln's Gettysburg Address?

No, Miss Chalkdust. But I think I remember his phone number.

And average in math.

Excellent, Billy. You put the batteries into your calculator just right.

But it was on my high school football team where I excelled.

Son, you're the best quarterback we've ever had here at Sylvia Seidman's School for Very Tall Midgets!

However, somehow I knew this team wasn't preparing me for what I'd find in the outside world.

Dad, why did you send me to Sylvia Seidman High?

We were short on cash — and they had the smallest tuition.

But it's not helping me. I'm only 4'8", and yet I'm the tallest one in my school. How am I gonna make it out there in the real world of football?

They're training you right.

Dad, our big play is to run through the opposing team's legs.

You'll see. Everything will work out fine.

Now both of you hush up and eat your confetti. It was freshly shredded this morning.

CRACKED is the sad motorcyclist that just Moped around the house all day!

The last day of high school came and I graduated with highest honors — which wasn't hard considering my school and all — and it was on that day that I made an important decision.

Do you like it?

Wow! My very own football uniform.

Your father made it himself — out of old soda cans.

TINKLE!

And speaking of soda, I've got something to tell you. I've decided not to go to college.

You mean you wanna go into your father's carpet tack business?

No, mom. I'm turning pro.

RATTLE-RATTLE!

I've got an audition with the Rams tomorrow.

I suppose you know what you're doing, but if you ask me, you'd probably go a lot farther playing ball with people.

Pluckett, Billy.

It says here you played high school ball.

Here.

Yes, sir. I was all-midget two years in a row.

Well, let's see what you can do. Try a few plays with our fourth string squad.

TINKLE!
TINKLE!

And so I gave it my best shot, but I was quickly learning that my 4'8" and 97 lbs. were not the average height and weight for most pros.

I didn't make it and I failed to get on the Jets, Giants and Red Skins as well. In fact, after being turned down by every team in the league, I was about to give up when finally the coach of the San Francisco Salamanders decided to give me a shot.

Here. Drink this.

Thanks.

I guess I was an average player. I had played about 13 seconds the first half of the season, I owned a locker filled with pinups of mom and my high school mascot, and I had a good friend on the team who was dying of a rare ear disease.

I'm sorry to hear about your illness, Brian.

Don't be. It took me three years to catch it. How else am I gonna get someone to make a movie of my life.

Finally, ten games into the season, after 23 members of our team had been injured, the coach decided to give me a break.

Kid, I'm sending you in as quarterback.

Me, coach?

Yeah, you. I think you got spunk... and style! And besides, you're the only one left on the bench.

My first play didn't do too well — I sent everyone, including the linesmen, out for a pass.

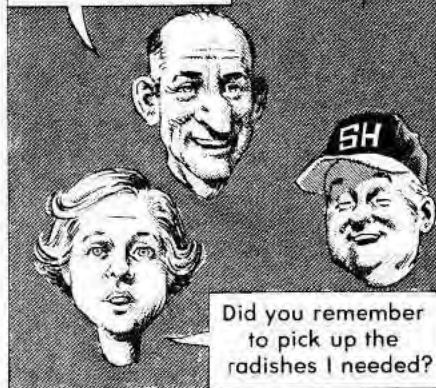

But then I started seeing images from my past.

And soon I began to click!

Billy, remember your experiences at Sylvia Seidman High? They'll pay off for you one day.

Use your assets, Bill. Crawl through their legs!

Did you remember to pick up the radishes I needed?

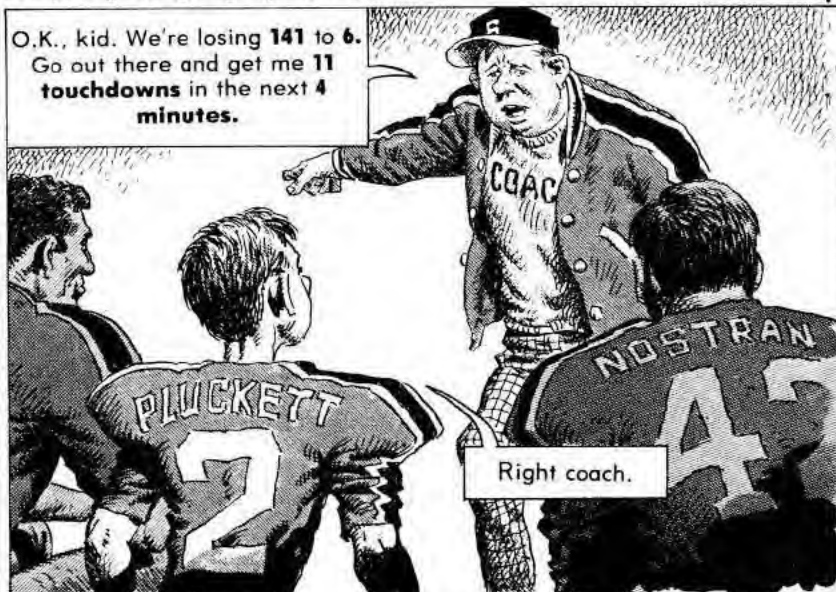

I was turning into a star!

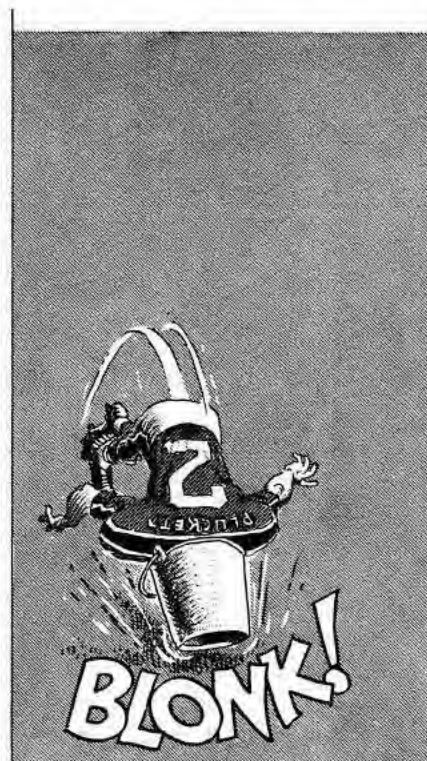

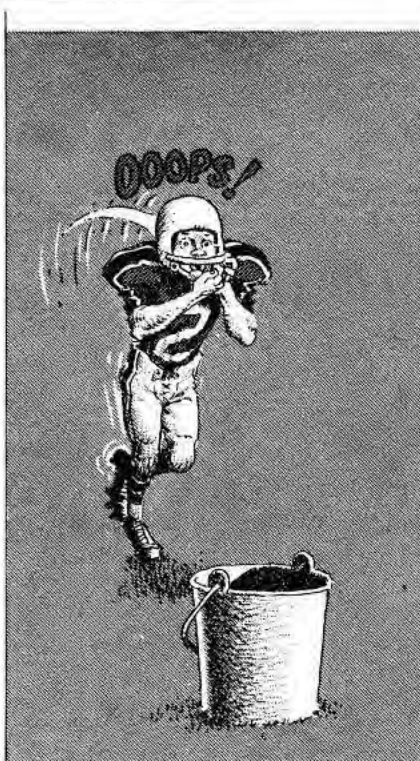

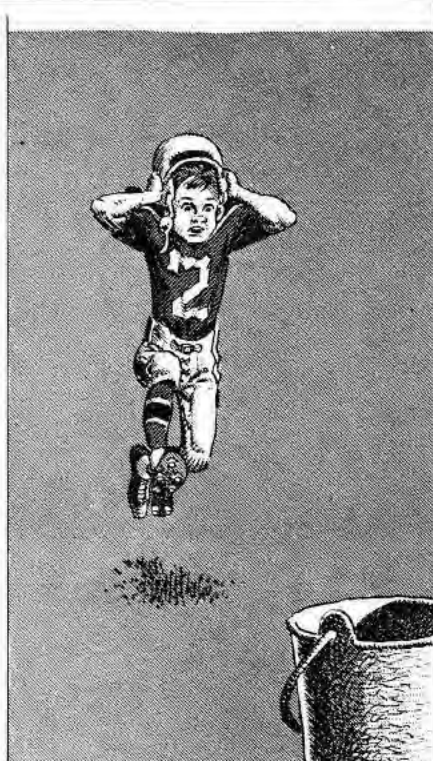

Everything was going right until.

O.K., kid. We're losing 141 to 6. Go out there and get me 11 touchdowns in the next 4 minutes.

Right coach.

Are you all right, kid?

Yeah, fine — except, coach ... is it midnight already?

My gosh! Quick! Rush Billy to the hospital! Spare no expense — take a bus if you have to.

All right, relax and see if you can tell me what I'm holding up before you.

A canary?

Mr. Pluckett, that's...

No, wait! ... a rubber raft! ... a picture of a 1933 Studebaker! ... Oh, doc! Why try to fake it. I can't see!

I thought so. When you walked in here, you started talking to a box of gauze pads.

Doc, give it to me straight.

Well, I have some good and bad things to report.

I can guess the bad thing — I can't see! My whole world is total darkness. But what's the good thing?

IF YOU ARE BLIND PLEASE REPORT TO RM. 307

You won't have to wear your glasses anymore for reading!

Well, at first all I wanted to do was sit and be left alone — but then I started thinking about my friend Brian and how, even though he had that rare ear disease, he still played ball. It was at that point that I decided, I too, was going to play — and play better than I ever had.

My first practice session didn't go too well.

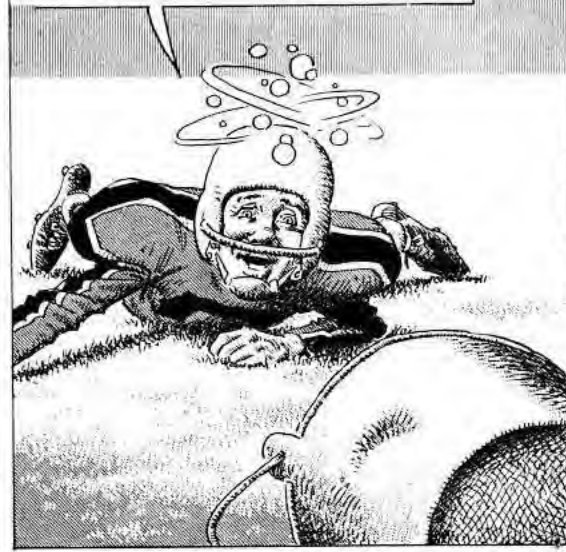

But, finally I learned how to pass, run, catch and even yodel despite my inability to see.

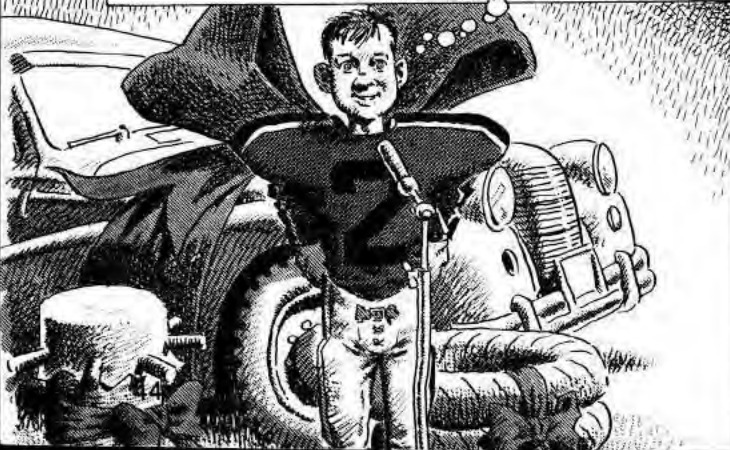

Billy Pluckett Day was planned, and a week before I was to be honored, a strange thing happened — I slipped on one of the coach's éclairs.

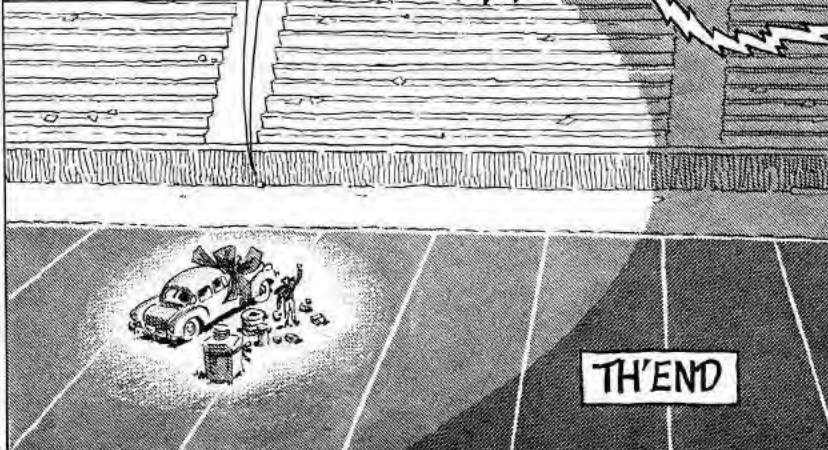

My gosh! A miracle! I can see! Now, not only can I hear "I Love Lucy" reruns, but I can see them again as well!

And here I stand today. A star who loves life and everything about it. And now I'm being honored with a new toaster and a pair of asbestos-lined hairdryers. I think only one thing could have made me happier than I am today...

...if they had held this tribute on the same day that a game had been scheduled at the stadium!

Football Stadium gives you Billy Pluckett!

Greetings. Nanny Dickering here, and in case you're wondering exactly what the structure behind me is, well, it's the home of this issue's special guest. The reason it's shaped like the Starship Enterprise is because he's, without a doubt, the #1 fan of Gene Roddenberry's creation, as you'll soon discover when

CRACKED INTERVIEWS THE TREKKER KING

Dear readers, I'd like you to meet Mr....

That's captain.

Sorry. Captain William Scotty Sulu McNimoy.

Welcome to my home, everyone. Come, let's go into the livingroom where we can be more comfortable.

Captain, I take it that William Scotty Sulu is not your given name.

No, mom was a bit saner than I and gave me a common favorite of hers from the 1940's.

Which was?

Popeye Rabinowitz.

SEAS

TINKER TOY

It was a name I... Hey! Nanny, here come my two spinoffs.

Spinoffs? Oh, you mean your children.

This is my daughter Uhura and my son, Spock.

And, who's that peeking around the corner there?

Our lovable little dog...

Appropriately named Bones.

Dad, can we go outside and play?

Tut. Tut. You know what I taught you. What's the correct term?

Sorry. May we beam ourselves outside?

That's better. Go ahead.

Exactly how did you become a Star Trek freak?

It was kinda by accident. Back in the 60's I had this thing for speedy Alka Seltzer.

You mean old "Plop, Plop, Fizz, Fizz."

That's him. I used to spin the dial vainly searching for one of his commercials. Well, one night he was sponsoring the whole Star Trek show, and to give myself something to do between Speedy's dips into the glass of water, I watched the program.

HOW DOES THIS NEW GADGET WORK?

It was spontaneous. I fell in love with the ship, ate up the plots, and soon began to draw my eyebrows on like Mr. Spock's. This, of course, caused me to lose my job!

How come?

I was a stock broker and my stuffy company scorned upon male employees who wore eye makeup to work.

BOYING-G

LIKE THIS

Since then, I understand, you've acquired quite a collection of Star Trek memorabilia.

Oh yes. For example, this.

Don't tell me. Those are Mr. Spock's earmuffs!

Only pair in existence.

And, here's one of the actual tribbles used in "The Trouble With Tribbles" episode.

It looks more like a ball of cotton.

I think it is. Back in those days, they had a very low budget.

Captain, how factual is the show?

To the best of my knowledge, very. And I should know.

You were a science major in school?

No, a poetry major, but as a kid, my father bought me this Golden Book of Outer Space, and I've read it over 22 times.

How often do you watch Star Trek?

Channel 6 shows it 3 times a day. You see it 3 hours !!!

Actually, I watch it 15 hours daily. You see, I have all 78 episodes taped on this video recorder, and I keep it going constantly.

That's a lot of Star Trek. How does your wife feel about it all?

Why don't you ask her yourself. Illa! Illa, honey!

Hello, Mrs. McNimoy. I'm... your hair!!

I know. Skin city. After the movie came out, the captain made me shave my head and change my name to Illa.

And you went along with it?

Well, it was better being named Illa than what he used to call me.

What was that?

Mr. Chekov.

What's it like living with America's #1 Trekker?

Exasperating. Why I'd leave the looney in a shot if it weren't for one irresistible thing about him.

What's that?

He's loaded.

And with his megabucks, he does treat me fairly well. That is, if you can overlook his weirdness. For example, this past Christmas he gave me this mink coat.

It's lovely. I suppose...

If you don't mind the U.S.S. Enterprise soaring up your spinal column.

And for our 10th wedding anniversary, he got me this 18 carat diamond ring.

Can you see this folks. It's huge. And the diamond's in this strange configuration.

Strangel?! You mean, all stones aren't shaped like Captain Kirk's foot?

Have you chatted long enough with Illa, Nanny, because I have a surprise for you.

Sorry, but you're not shaving my head.

No. No. We're going to a Star Trek convention.

Captain Decker, take this craft up to Warp 2. We're in a hurry.

Sir, can you tell me the differences between a Trekker and a Trekkie?

Well, I'm a Trekker. We're serious fans who, when we meet someone from the show, we ask important questions of him.

Like?

Like what the PH balance of the soil on Vulcan is.

And what about a Trekkie?

They're basically groupies who just like to climb all over any of the celebrities connected with the show.

Who are the Trekkies over there trying to sneak a peek at?

The convention's guest of honor—Melena G. Agocropolis.

TODAY'S
STAR TREK
CONVENTION

Who's she?

The cleaning lady who used to dust off all of the show's sets.

I TOUCHED HER
I TOUCHED HER

Care to buy a button, lady?

You mean like "Honk If You Love Nurse Chapel" or "Klingons Need Love Too".

Those are at booth #108. I'm selling real buttons. Replicas of the kind used on the back flap of Dr. McCoy's long johns.

No thanks.

Captain, I hear loud voices coming from that room over there. Are those people taking a Star Trek oath of allegiance or something?

No, Nanny. We're just running episode #21, and the audience is reciting the dialog along with the actors.

Beam me up, Mr. Spock. There's an alien sweatsock attacking the ship.

AUDITORIUM
LECTURES
MOVIES
AND ALL
SUCH JUNK

And, what are they selling here?

The latest publications to come out dealing with the show. They're a must for every Trekker.

Throughout Star Trek's history, you Trekkers have had certain goals. First, it was to get a U.S. space craft named after the Enterprise.

Which we got.

I can tell. "Phone Numbers of Famous Vulcans"... "Manual on How to Repair a Thruster Suit".

How many of each do you want, lady?

None.

Terrific. Will that be cash or charge?

And, then to have the cast members reunited which you also got with the release of the movie. What now?

TREKKERLAND.

Here's the blueprints. It would be an amusement park that would house every set ever used on the show. Trekkers could then experience everything first hand.

How close is this project to reality?

Well, we had a small parcel of land picked out, but the citizens of Rhode Island refused to move out to make way for the park. However, we do have a pledge of a vacant lot in Hartford, Conn., and as soon as we can get 225 million acres of adjoining land, we're on our way.

One final question of you captain and anyone else here who'd care to comment. Many critics, myself included, thought that "Star Trek The Motion Picture" was long, slow, boring and a waste of 40 million dollars. How do you respond to that?

And this is Nanny Dickering thanking Captain McNimoy and returning you back to the pages of CRACKED.

What blasphemy!

Who cares what the movie was like. It was the birth of a new Star Trek episode.

Who let her in here?

SHUT-UPS

IN THIS AREA.

EVEN BETTER TO LITTER AROUND THE CORNER.
